MONITUM.

The extreme length of the Triennial Catalogue makes it necessary to prepare an abridgment for men as constantly pressed by the affairs of art, of literature, of science, of philosophy, of state, of church, and of society, as are the men of 1839.

This edition is therefore prepared for their use. It will be found to contain the names of the sixty-five most distinguished graduates of the University, and of those officers of instruction whose pupils have been most distinguished.

Nomina Theologiæ Professorum et Ecclesiarum Pastorum literis Italicis imprimuntur.

Nomina eorum qui in republica honores attinuerunt in literis majusculis imprimuntur.

Mortui stelligeri sunt.

Born on Washington's birthday, eighty-six years after him, in Boston. Educated, among other places, at Hofwyl, under Fellenberg. With us, a "university student;" but at a class-meeting, after graduating, we voted him in in full standing. He took the degree of M.D. at Philadelphia. He invented and established the electric fire-alarm.

"A wizard of such wondrous fame,
That when, in Salamanca's cave,
Him listed his magic wand to wave,
The bells would ring in Notre Dame."

Married.

*DAVIS, MOSES. Good Fellow.
I.O.H.: — Φ.B.K. Our oldest classmate. Lived with Kebler at Hy.
21.

Born at Barnard, Vt., Aug. 19, 1810.

Davis is the last but one of the class to be starred upon the Triennial.
He died September 29, 1863, in Barnard, after a painful illness. In active life, as with us, he had won the esteem of all who knew him, for his courtesy, dignity, and Christian character. The kindness with which he sympathized in our more boyish life, in which we could hardly ask him to take a share, will always be fresh in our college memories.

DAWES, THOMAS. Good Fellow.
I.O.H.: — Φ.B.K.: — Harv. Union,

low. Inst. 1770: — H.P.C.:
Porcell. Harv. Nat. Hist. Soc.:
— Harv. Union, &c., &c. Lived at Mass. 9. Born in Gloucester County, Va., Nov. 6, 1819. Died in Boston, Nov. 9, 1841.

Dean was the first classmate lost to us. After studying medicine with extreme diligence, he died little more than two years after he graduated. At a class-meeting, held
Nov. 11, 1841, the class resolved,
“That we have heard with deep sorrow of the sudden death of our classmate, Enos W. Dean. . . .
His zeal in the profession he had chosen, his universal desire to do good to those around him, and the general generosity of his character, gave us reasons to believe that he would prove an ornament to society, and an honor to our parent university.”

ECKLEY, JOSEPHUS STYLES. Bonus
Comes. I.O.H.: — Harv. Union,
&c., &c., &c. Ædibus Carterianis habitabat.

Natus Bostoniæ, Octobri 3^o, MDCCC-

Born at Boston, Oct. 8, 1819. Studied law at our Law School, and was admitted at the bar in 1842. Married, Feb. 9, 1847, Miss Elisabeth Henderson Rice, in Boston.

He died on commencement-day, July 16, 1862.

A true friend, an accomplished gentleman, a faithful and patriotic citizen, and an humble Christian.

At a class-meeting held on July 19, 1862, it was "resolved that his death . . . fills our hearts with grief, moves us to solemn thought, and calls for an expression of our sense of his great worth. . . .

— That by his modesty; by uniform courtesy, kindness, and liberality; by his gentleness, and manly, conscientious decision and firmness; by untiring diligence; and by faithfulness to himself, to every duty, and to his fellows, — he won and held the love and respect of all. A good student and a good man, he led, through college and until death, the pure, serene, useful, honorable, happy life of a true Christian gentleman, which we contemplate with pride and pleasure; whose good influence will last upon us and in the world."

LL.B. of our University, 1841.

HALE, EDWARD EVERETT. So So. I.O.H. Harv. Nat. Hist. Soc.:— A.D.Φ.:— Φ.B.K.:— Harv. Union:— Octagonal Astronomical Club. Class-Poet. The class-poem burned out his harp-strings, and what is left hangs on the willows. Lived at Mass. 27.

KEBLER, JOHN. Gut freund. Inst. 1770 : — H. N. Hist. Soc. : — Φ.B.K. : — Hy. 24, gewohnt.

Geboren die 1^{sten} Februar, 1819, zu Sulz am Neckar im Konigreich Wurtemberg. Zu seinem vierzehnten Jahre segelte er von Bremen ab, um mit seinem Eltern nach America auszuwandern. Zu Baltimore angelangt, verweilte er daselbst einige Wochen und ging dann nach Roxbury, wo er die englische Sprache erlernte und sich durch andere Studien zur Universität vorbereitete.

Er studirte darauf die Rechtsgelehrsamkeit und ist gegenwärtig Advocat in Cincinnati.

Den 18^{ten} August, 1846, feierte er seine Hochzeit mit Fraulein Lucia Eliot Abbot, aus Windham, N.H.

Gegenwärtig ist er in Cincinnati ansässig. Möge er lange und glücklich leben !

KING, JOHN. Good Fellow. Tall. Inst. 1770 : — Harv. Nat. Hist. Soc. : — Harv. Union, &c., &c. Lived at Hy. 2 with Baker. Born in Randolph "in the seventh year of Madison," saith his autobiography, "and upon the twenty-sixth day of the tenth month." Attorney-at-law at Randolph, at Dedham, in California, and now at home again.

Born in Liverpool, Eng., May 3, 1819. Thence to France, and to America. To France again at eleven years of age ; to Hofwyl in Switzerland ; to America again, and so to us.

Since he graduated, he also has entered at the bar, and distinguished himself in practice. Is now Judge of the First District of the Supreme and Circuit Court of the State of New York.

LABRANCHE, ROMUALD. Bel-amy. I.O.H. : — Harv. Nat. Hist. Soc. : — Porcell : — Harv. Union. Lived at Mr. Warland's.

Né dans la paroisse de Jefferson en Louisiane, le 7 Fevrier, 1816.

Sur le Registre de la Classe, Rom. Labranche n'a écrit que ces mots : "Toute ma vie ne fut qu'un — qui sera seulement rempli par mon Epitaphe." Mais lorsqu'il eut écrit cela, il l'avait déjà bien rempli d'agréables souvenirs pour ses amis, qui ne l'oublient jamais.

"Quand cette rebellion impie Sera bientôt enfin finie," puisse-t-il venir nous voir au Com-mencement, et nous dire de quelle façon prospère tout ce qui le regarde.

LINCOLN, EDWARD WINSLOW. Good Fellow. Inst. 1770 : — Harv. Union, &c., &c., &c. Lived at Hy. 5.

Born at Worcester, Mass., Dec. 2, 1820. After leaving us, he practised law in Alton, Ill. He returned to Worcester in 1847, and there now lives. Married.

LONGFELLOW, SAMUEL. Good Fellow. Inst. 1770 : — H. P. C. : — A. D. Φ. : — Φ. B. K. : — Harv. Union, &c., &c., &c. Lived at Mass. 26. Kept Flowers in his window.

Born in Portland, Dist. of Maine, June 18, 1819.

Left our Divinity School July 17, 1846 ; at which time the following hymn was sung, which he had written, mutatis mutandis, for Hale's ordination : —

A holy purpose in our hearts
Has deepened calm and still ;
And now we leave our Nazareth,
O God ! to do thy will.

O Father ! keep our souls alive
To every hope of good ;
And may our life of love proclaim
Man's truest brotherhood.

O Father ! keep our spirits quick
To every form of wrong ;
And in the ear of sin and self
May our rebuke be strong !

And give us, in thy holy work,
Patience to wait thy time ;
And, toiling still with man, to breathe
The soul's serener clime.

And when, as in Christ's steps we press,
We see our cross at length,
O Thou who trod'st Gethsemane,
Thine angels give us strength !

And now, with simple, reverent hearts,
Thy blessing, Lord, we wait :
In faith and love, to thee and man
Our lives we consecrate.

LORING, CALEB WILLIAM. Good Fellow. Inst. 1770 : — H. P. C. : — Harv. Nat. Hist. : — A. D. Φ. : — Φ. B. K. : — &c., &c., &c. Class-Secretary. Lived at H. 12.

Born in Dorchester, July 31, 1819. His early life, excepting a few summers, was spent in Boston ; and the hope which he expressed in the class-book, that so his life might continue, has been fulfilled.

Faithful and successful at the bar, his diligence and integrity and executive faculty as class secretary have even more distinguished him. He married Elizabeth S. Peabody, Jan. 15, 1846.

LL.B., 1841.

LYMAN, DAVID HINCKLEY. Bonus Comes. I.O.H. Harv. Union, &c., &c., &c. Lived at H. 27.

Born at Peterborough, N.H., Dec. 14, 1815.

Left us for Baltimore, Md. ; where he has distinguished himself as a teacher.

Married Sidney Buchanan Brown, Dec. 22, 1842.

ODE WRITTEN FOR CLASS-DAY, JULY 18, 1839.

We meet, while grief each bosom swells,
Which late but pleasure knew,
To hear the prayers of those we love,
And bid a kind adieu ;

We meet to part at manhood's call,
When youth's fond dream is o'er ;
When life's young joys are all behind,
Its mysteries before.

And well may sorrow fill the heart,
A tear the eye confess,

As now we leave the haunts we've loved,
And friendship's fond caress ;

As now we leave the mates our hearts
Have cherished long and well ;
As to the joyous scenes of youth
We say, at last, farewell.

Four years ! — how long and dark they seemed
When early youth looked on ;
And yet how soon their tale is told, —
They will be, — they are gone !

Gone like the dewdrop from the flower,
Like summer's tinted bow,
Like fancy's dream at twilight hour,
Like angels come below.

Here other voices will be heard,
 Here other feet will tread,
 While we, by fortune's varying star,
 O'er life's dark sea are led.
 Farewell ye groves! and summer winds
 Still murmur lightly through;
 Farewell ye halls! where oft we've met;
 Ye classic walks, adieu!

Now, Classmates! — ah, how many tales
 That single word can tell! —
 Come clasp a brother's proffered hand,
 His blessing claim, — Farewell!
 Farewell! and, though we meet no more
 Till life's last link is riven,
 We'll raise above one heartfelt prayer
 To meet again in heaven.

*NEWTON, LEVI LINCOLN. Good Fellow. Inst. 1770: — Harv. Union, &c., &c., &c. Lived at Hy. 13, with Jennison.

Born in Worcester, Aug. 20, 1820; and in that city he died from pulmonary disease, October 21, 1847.

Notwithstanding the steady encroachments of disease, he had earned for himself an enviable reputation among his townsmen as an energetic and faithful citizen. As commander of the Worcester Light Guard, and in other public duties, he showed his readiness to serve the community in which he lived. He died universally lamented. His classmates, at their next meeting, expressed this regret in their records.

*PARKER, HENRY MELVILLE. Good Fellow. Inst. 1770. H. P. C.: Φ. B. K.: — Harv. Union: — Octagonal Astron., &c., &c., &c. Lived at Hy. 14, with Chase.

Born in Boston, Aug. 7, 1820. He studied law at our school; practised it with honor and success in Boston, — residing in Cambridge, where, with a cordial hospitality, he often entertained the class assembled.

He married Miss Fanny C. Stone, of Greenfield, on the 30th of April, 1851.

He died Oct. 17, 1863: our last star. M. et. Trin., 1850. LL.B., 1841.

*POPE, AUGUSTUS RUSSELL. Good Fellow: — True Classmate. I.O. H.: — Harv. Union: — Davy Club: — &c., &c., &c. Lived at St. 24.

Born in Boston, Jan. 25, 1819. He studied at the Divinity School, and was ordained at Kingston, Mass., April 19, 1843.

He married Miss Sarah A. Meacham, at Cambridge, June 2, 1843.

He afterwards removed to Somerville; and was installed there, Nov. 25, 1849. He remained here, the energetic pastor of the Unitarian church, till his death.

He died, suddenly to us, in the midst of a laborious and useful life, on the 24th of May, 1858. At a class-meeting, on the 26th, the class passed a series of resolutions expressing their estimate of his character. The resolutions said, after expressing our regret, that —

"His constant activity for the welfare of others, his well-directed efforts for his own cultivation and improvement, his readiness to give constant sympathy to his friends, his interest in the advancement of public education and the subject of science, as well as a philanthropy which was genuine and efficient, and the devotion of his life to his profession, which he never allowed to be subordinate to any other of his many occupations and interests, and to us especially his strong attachment to his classmates and their interests, will make his loss long felt by us, by his congregation, and by the community in which he lived."

WATSON, BENJAMIN MARSTON. Good Fellow. Inst. 1770: — Harv. Nat. Hist. Soc.: — H.P.C. Harv. Union, &c., &c., &c. Lived at Hy. 22.

Born in Plymouth, Jan. 18, 1820.

Married, in Plymouth, Miss Mary Russell, February 22, 1846.

There were six of us, familiarly known as "The Ruffian," "Mr. Pickwick," "Hayes St. Leger," "Sir Matthew," "Mr. Tupman," and "Mr. Snodgrass," who introduced salt-spoons into commons. We purchased the spoons for twelve cents silver. We promised them to the first married. This Watson (class-marshal he) was the happy man; and, on the happy day, he received the spoons, with the inscription "ἄλας ἐκοινωνοῦμεν."

... "In the chords and the discords which life bids us
Time plays you the sweetest of tunes: [face,
Of the cups and the plate, bright rewards of the race,
It seems you come in for the spoons!
'Salt is good,' says the Word to the Faithful;
'Salt is good,' says the deep-heaving sea;
Salt is good when it binds men in troth, full
Of courage and hope as were we!
Let the spoons tell your children the story
Of the friendship which always was true;
Of the salt which bound old friends together,
And linked us as brothers to you."

WELCH, WILSON JARVIS. Good Fellow. I.O.H.: — H.P.C. Harv. Union, &c., &c., &c. Lived at Mrs. Phipps's.
